

The Gumshoe. I did the first. I did the last.

The Gumshoe Answer Man has 85 commemorative mugs to sell at $10 a piece ($2 over cost, with the $2 going to the Phinney Neighborhood Association) and absolutely no clue (the Answer Man is clueless?!?) as to what the demand will be for these tastefully designed and downright functional containers. Consequently, he is limiting purchase to a maximum of two mugs per gumshoe for now, first come, first served.

However, should the Answer Man find himself with inventory remaining on August 22, the day after the Gumshoe wraps for good, he'll contact you and sell leftover mugs at the $10 price, no limit, if you indicate that you want more than two.

That explained, print and complete this form and present it at the main desk in the Blue Building at the Phinney Neighborhood Center, 6532 Greenwood Ave N, with a CREDIT CARD or EXACT CASH. Got it?

I did the first and last Gumshoe and, by golly, I can prove it!

The answers to clues #20 and #30 of the July Gumshoe were _____ and _____.

The answers to clues #20 and #30 of the August Gumshoe were _____ and _____.

I've circled the statement that best reflects my desire mugwise.

One mug is more than enough for me.

Two mugs give me a delightfully matched set.

Two mugs are okay, but I want more, more, more!

And here's my first name and contact information so the Answer Man can contact me if he has any leftovers.
